SEERS (medical devices company) - $75mm-$150mm - is a Korea based medical device and technology company which is focused on developing and delivering integrated capabilities from biomaterials and medical device manufacturing to AI and software technologies. The product line includes skin-adhesive biomaterials, wireless wearable biosensor technology, in-house developed medical AI, digital health service platform and manufacturing infrastructure.

Ambature - $25mm Primary - is a IP backed design company which has product lines across high temperature semi-conductors and SQUID sensors. Near term SQUID use cases are for drones, satellite radio antennas, signal intelligence, telecom cellphone base stations, medical imaging, autonomous vehicles, IoT, AI and making data centers more efficient. Their patented design elements for chips are truly unique and the application is global (their tech is graftable onto any OEM chips).

The Hedgebay Global Secondary Market Index (GSMI) is a proprietary, asset-weighted index that describes the average premium or discount paid for hedge funds that trade in the secondary market in any given month. An investor may wish to use the index as a sentiment indicator to describe hedge fund investors' future expectations for performance, a benchmarking tool for hedge fund investors to assess latent value in their portfolios or as indicators of the cost of liquidity.

GSMI information is obtained through the Hedgebay website and its associated marketing licensees. There are limitations in using indices for comparison purposes because such indices may have different inclusion, selection, benchmarking and other criteria as well as other material characteristics including subjective determinations. To the extent that no transactions occur the value from the previous month is utilized. No representation is made about the value of GSMI as a predictive or other indicator or benchmarking tool or that any investor will achieve any results shown. This information is not intended to be, nor should it be construed or used as, a recommendation, or investment or other advice, or an offer, or the solicitation of an offer, to buy or sell any security, including an interest in any hedge fund, which may only be made through delivery of a fund's confidential offering documents, which must be read carefully. There are substantial risks in investing in hedge funds and other private securities. Certain information has been obtained from third party sources and, although believed to be reliable, it has not been independently verified and its accuracy or completeness cannot be guaranteed. Past performance is not indicative of future results. The GSMI may not be distributed without our consent.

The Hedgebay Global Illiquid Asset Index (GIAI) is a proprietary, asset-weighted index that describes the average discount paid for assets that have no contractual redemption rights to their investors (including, but not limited to hedge funds, private equity and real estate) that trade in the secondary market in any given month. An investor may wish to use the index as an indicator of the cost of liquidity or a sentiment indicator to describe investors' future expectations for illiquid assets.

GIAI information is obtained through the Hedgebay website and its associated marketing licensees. There are limitations in using indices for comparison purposes because such indices may have different inclusion, selection, benchmarking and other criteria as well as other material characteristics including subjective determinations.
